

I would like to see the spectrum opened up. The airwaves (radio spectra) have unlimited bandwidth. The unlimited bandwidth comes from a splitting of wavelengths into smaller and smaller parts. Therefore, no longer thinking of the airwaves as one wavelength one dumb device and instead we look at wavelengths as a splitting of wavelengths unlimited devices could be supported on frequencies which have the least background noise. Open the airwaves and let the public decide how to use them.